Since 1975, WRRS, KMUW's sub-carrier for the print-handicapped, has provided free, closed-circuit radio broadcast readings of local and national newspapers, magazines and novels to listeners in South Central Kansas. WRRS listeners are area citizens who suffer from vision, physical or cognitive handicaps that limit their ability to read the printed word. As our population ages, new listeners are in need of this important service. Your support will help us provide this vital connection for many in our area communities.
